INSPIRATION

Named after the goddess of sight and vision, Thea is coyly ambiguous, leaving the door open to much interpretation. A melting slab of ice, a module careening through space and time, a 100-year-old chunk of glass that was unearthed and reworked for a new chapter. Available in both pendant and sconce forms, Thea's sliver, gold, and richly toned metalwork is encased in hand-etched cast glass evoking the trace of time.
